DAILY RECORD

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1873, Narrow Escape From a Destructive

Between 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday morning there came near being a destruc. ive fire in the very heart of town. The fire took place in the rear end of Johnston's livery stable, on Meadow Valley street, stance was that the spanners which ought to have been in the hose box had been surreptitiously removed, and could not be found when so much needed. The spanners were in their proper place the evening before the fire, and it is not anreasonable to suppose that they were taken away by some one acquainted with the hose house and its surroundings, or that the abstraction of the spanners was for the accomplishment of a wicked purpose. In this connection, we beg to call the attention of the Board of County Commissioners and the people generally to the condition of the shanty which by courtesy is called the hose house. It is entirely open, and whoever may be so disposed can enter and cut the hose or commit any other irreparable mischief. We hope some steps will be taken, without delay, to improve the condition of the apparatus by which the firemen are expected to combat fires and save property. It is hardly proper to throw the whole burden of maintaining the Fire Department upon its members; the burden should be borne by the entire community, for all are interested in maintaining it. Cold weather is coming on now, and in the event of a destructive fire much personal suffering and perhaps death from exposure would be added to the pecuniary loss which the town would have to sustain.

The Rappile For Jesse Beene's House.

THE RAPPLE FOR JESSE BEENE'S HOUSE. Night before last, it will be remembered. there was a raffle at Hoey & Nixon's sastreet, in Pioche, now occupied by Jesse Beene as a residence. The raffle over, the judges certified to the winning number, which was held by a man named D. Graham. But Mr. Beene refused to give possession of the property, alleging that the winning number (254) had been lost or stolen, and that therefore the reputed winner was not entitled to the groperty. We understand that some legal steps (not of a strictly civil nature) may be taken in regard to the matter. The transaction looks somewhat suspicious; but in the hope of sering an honorable and fair adjustment, we append the award of the judges and secretaries, viz:

Proces, Nev., Nov. 21, 1873. We, the undersigned, judges of the drawing of the raffle of the house and lot occupied by Jesse Beene, on McCannon street, in Pioche, Nevada, do hereby certify that ticket No. 254, held by D. Gralam, who threw the highest number, being 51, is entitled to the said house and ot, and that all other tickets said number (254) are forgeries.

H. A. Thompson,

Judges. J. R. SUTTERLY, Thompson Campbell and J. D. Ranolph, Secretaries.

Convention of GROWLERS .- While a quartette of growlers were standing on Lacour street yesterday discussing and growling at things in general, one of them spoke in rather harsh terms about juries and the jury system, saying they were huge frauds, and about the lack of justice in this community. Their argument was brought to an abrupt termination by another hombre asking the speaker, "Where would you be to-day if justice had been meted out to you? Why, sir, you would have been dwelling in a certain public mansion in Carson City learning the ancient art of brick making. The idea of you talking about the lack of justice is certainly very appropo." With this remark the speaker turned to leave, when Mr. Growler let fly his hoof covered by No. 14 leather and caught the poor, unfortunate hombre in the vicinity of his coat tail. The convention then adjourned sine die. were huge frauds, and about the lack of OPPOSITION STAGE LINE .- Pritchard, it line, but from the fact that the stages which arrived and departed yesterday were principally loaded with passengers, most people look upon it as a genuine opposition stage line. The stock is now being placed along the route, and a few days will probably develop the nature of the line. So says the Eureka Sentinel, of Wednesday.

ACQUITTED .- The case of the State vs. Wm. Stansfield, charged with obstructing a public highway, came up for trial yesrerday before Judge Fuller in the District Court. District Attorney Goldthwaite and Henry Rives appeared in behalf of the State, and W. W. Bishop and O. C. McDonald for the defendant. After an able argument the case was given to the jury, who retired, and after deliberating about an hour, brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

THE WEATHER. - Early yesterday morning rain began to fall, and during the whole day it was cold and disagreeable, with occasional showers. Towards night a little snow fell, but it nelted almost as fast as it came down. We have had such delightful weather for some weeks past that we almost enjoy a little rough weather now.

Assignme's Salk .- The property at the Mendha mill will be sold this morning at 11 o'clock, without reserve. We ex-pect and hope the sale will be largely at-tended.

To ARRIVE. - L. Wertheimer is the only passenger telegraphed to arrive on ON AND AFTER NOVEMBER 1st, THE to-day's stage from Hamilton.

A NEW circulating library, imported elgars, tobacco, stationery and confection-ery at J. Levin & Co.'s, opposite Hamil-ton's saloon, Main street.

The Prevailing Sentiment on the Virginine Outrage

Under the caption of "What will the Next Congress Do?" a citizen of Proche gives expression to the emotions awakened by the shocking affair of the Virginius. He writes as follows:

Congress meets on the 1st of Dreember, and, if its members be true to their country and worthy of the seats they country and worthy of the seats they occupy, ere fifteen days will have elapsed, they will pass resolutions demanding of country and some ashes against the boards which form the rear end of the stable. In the ashes must have been some sparks or live coals, and thereby the boards took fire, the blaze running up and connecting with the roof. Fortunately the stable has a small hose, and near by where the fire caught was a trough containing water. By the groupt use of these means, so near at hand, the employes about the stable, and others who happened to be up at that early hour, speedily extinguished the flames.

Owing to the early hour and the celerity with which the fire was extinguished, there was no general alarm, and comparatively few people were aware of the uarrow escape the town made from a very destructive fire. The bose carriage, winding around the axle and prevented from stretching their hose in proper time. Another annoying circums that the spanners which ought to have been in the hose boy had been surreptitiously removed, and could the spanners were in their proper place the evening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they were and the firm of the carriage of the spanners were in their proper place the evening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they were an a trong the results of the spanners were in their proper place the evening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they were any and the suppose that they were any and the suppose the sevening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they were any and the suppose the sevening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they were any and the seath of the dear they are also and the suppose the sevening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they were also and the suppose the sevening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose the sevening before the fire, and it is not unreasonable to suppose the sevening before the occupy, ere fifteen days will have clapsed, they are themselves fastidious—for they are often as little so as any—but because men are not humble enough to wish to have their superiors for CHARACTER. - When character is los when honor dies, there is nothing left. Many have started in life with fair prospeets at every turu. Prosperity met them; but having no chart to guide, they have finally sunk, and ruin marks the spot where once dignity, energy, skill and nobility reigned royally triumphant.

THE Bulletin of the American Iron and Opposition Stage Line.—Pritchard, it appears, is about establishing an opposition line of stages from Palisade to Pioche, by the southern route. The agent here speaks of it as a fast freight line, but from the fact that the stages which arrived and departed yesterday
